Mondavi Center Presents MST3K's Cinematic Titanic

Davis, Calif.—On Friday, November 4 at 8p.m., the Robert and Margaret Mondavi Center for the Performing Arts, UC Davis will present the hilarious Cinematic Titanic. Featuring the original creators of Mystery Science Theatre 3000 (MST3K) live on stage, Cinematic Titanic continues the tradition of riffing “the unfathomable,” “the horribly great” and the just plain “cheesy” movies from the past.

Cinematic Titanic is a feature-length movie-riffing show from Joel Hodgson, the creator of Mystery Science Theatre 3000. Cinematic Titanic features the original cast that first brought the Peabody Award-winning cult-classic series to life: Trace Beaulieu (Crow, Dr. Forrester), J. Elvis Weinstein (Tom Servo, Dr. Erhardt), Frank Conniff (TV's Frank), and Maru Jo Pehl (Pearl Forrester). The clever and inventive live commentary of the group, also known as “riffing,” occurs throughout the production.

The riff light will be on as the crew goes head-to-head with the 1972 non-classic Doomsday Machine. Will the crew of the Astra make it safely to Venus? Will the human race survive? Will you wish it didn't once you've seen this movie? Not when you watch with Cinematic Titanic!

Founded in late 2007, Cinematic Titanic is an artist-funded and artist-owned and operated venture. With 10 feature-length DVDs and an ever-growing schedule of live shows, the CT crew is reconnecting with MSTies around the world as well as bringing new fans to the comedy art form first introduced by this group 20 years ago on television.

Tickets are on sale now at 530-754-2787; 866-754-2787 (toll-free); 530-754-5402 (TDD) and MondaviArts.org.
